4 Ways To Refresh Your Home

You love your home, but you've been searching for a few ways to make it feel fresh and new. Just a handful of small changes can make your home feel warm, welcoming—and stylized. Here are a few ideas to serve as inspiration.

I. Refresh Your Walls

Paint, wallpaper, wall decals, and molding are some of the most fun and effective ways of making your home feel fresh and new. Many homeowners opt for basic white or cream colored walls, out of concern of overpowering a room with color or design. However, there are many tasteful ways to refresh your walls and warm up any room with new wall coverings. You can even apply textured wall coverings, or faux wall coverings designed to look like brick, stone, or a variety of fun options.

II. Add-On To Your Home

If you have ever felt like your home would be far more functional if you had just a little bit more space, then you are not alone! Adding on to your home can be as simple as adding a porch, closet, or bedroom. For maximum impact, add a new bathroom, make the kitchen bigger—or transform your basement or attic into a new living space.

III. Redecorate Your Home

Buying new furniture and home accessories can make your home feel fresh and new. Make sure that size and scale are at the top of your mind when selecting new items for your home. Before you redecorate, consider if you want to change the layout of each room—and whether or not custom cabinetry can help to achieve your goals. Built-in entertainment centers, shelving units, display units, and drawers are some of the most popular options, but your built-in can be custom designed to meet your needs.

IV. Customize Your Home Exterior
